

The VIP Study

This NHS Trust is taking part in a research study that aims to understand how midwives and doctors involve women in decisions during labour. The study goal is to provide clear guidelines about how to do this well.

To find out how decisions are actually made during labour, the research team aim to record and analyse the labours of 50 women. Anyone who agrees to be filmed (women, their birth partners, and healthcare practitioners) will remain anonymous.

If you are a patient and would like to know more about taking part in the study, please ask your midwife. If you are a member of staff, please contact [site-specific contact details – email and phone - included for Consultant Midwife team members]
