

A patient story

Daniel Kristeen

A few months ago I suffered a heart attack and was told that I needed to be urgently referred for angiogram. I was kept in whilst I waited and felt very anxious. It was a couple of days before they could book me in.

I feel this delay could have been avoided. I hope that other people in my position are treated more quickly